unknown or overlooked in the historiography of the holocaust make this an indispensable reference work on the destroyed jewish communities of eastern europe nazis began detaining jews in camps as soon as they came to power in 1933 kim wünschmann reveals the origin of these extralegal detention sites the harsh treatment jews received there and the message the camps sent to germans that jews were enemies of the state dangerous to associate with and fair game for acts of intimidation and violence on the murderous road to racial purity hitler encountered unexpected detours largely due to his own crazed views and inconsistent policies regarding jewish identity after centuries of jewish assimilation and intermarriage in german society he discovered that eliminating jews from the rest of the population was more difficult than he d anticipated as bryan rigg shows in this provocative new study nowhere was that heinous process more fraught with contradiction and confusion than in the german military contrary to conventional views rigg reveals that a startlingly large number of german military men were classified by the nazis as jews or partial jews mischlinge in the wake of racial laws first enacted in the mid 1930s rigg demonstrates that the actual number was much higher than previously thought perhaps as many as 150 000 men including decorated veterans and high ranking officers even generals and admirals as rigg fully documents for the first time a great many of these men did not even consider themselves jewish and had embraced the military as a way of life and as devoted patriots eager to serve a revived german nation in turn they had been embraced by the wehrmacht which prior to hitler had given little thought to the race of these men but which was now forced to look deeply into the ancestry of its soldiers the process of investigation and removal however was marred by a highly inconsistent application of nazi law numerous exemptions were made in order to allow a soldier to stay within the ranks or to spare a soldier s parent spouse or other relative from incarceration or far worse hitler s own signature can be found on many of these exemption orders but as the war dragged on nazi politics came to trump military logic even in the face of the wehrmacht s growing manpower needs closing legal loopholes and making it virtually impossible for these soldiers to escape the fate of millions of other victims of the third reich based on a deep and wide ranging research in archival and secondary sources as well as extensive interviews with more than four hundred mischlinge and their relatives rigg s study breaks truly new ground in a crowded field and shows from yet another angle the extremely flawed dishonest demeaning and tragic essence of hitler s rule could the allies have prevented the deaths of tens of thousands of holocaust victims inspired by a conference held to mark the opening of the us holocaust memorial museum this book brings together the key contributions to this debate they were foot soldiers and officers they served in the regular army and the waffen ss and remarkably they were also jewish at least as defined by hitler s infamous race laws pursuing the thread he first unraveled in hitler s jewish soldiers bryan rigg takes a closer look at the experiences of wehrmacht soldiers who were classified as jewish in this long awaited companion volume he presents interviews with twenty one of these men whose stories are both fascinating and disturbing as many as 150 000 jews and partial jews or mischlinge served often with distinction in the german military during world war ii the men interviewed for this volume portray a wide range of experiences some came from military families some had been raised christian revealing in vivid detail how they fought for a government that robbed them of their rights and sent their relatives to extermination camps yet most continued to serve since resistance would have cost them their lives and they mistakenly hoped that by their service they could protect themselves and their families the interviews recount the nature and extent of their dilemma the divided loyalties under which many toiled during the nazi years and afterward and their sobering reflections on religion and the holocaust including what they knew about it at the time rigg relates each individual's experiences following the establishment of hitler's race laws shifting between vivid scenes of combat and the increasingly threatening situation on the home front for these men and their family members their stories reveal the constant tension in their lives how some tried to hide their identities and how a few were even aryanized as part of hitler's effort to retain reliable soldiers including field marshal erhard milch three star general helmut wilberg and naval commander bernhard rogne chilling compelling almost beyond belief these stories depict crises of conscience under the most stressful circumstances lives of hitler's jewish soldiers deepens our understanding of the complex intersection of nazi race laws and german military service both before and during world war ii the book consists of four parts four chapters of texts on the history of the jews in poland appendixes illustrations and maps regarding antisemitism see ch 4 pp 87 136 german annihilation of the jews and three brief texts in the appendices which relate to antisemitism the ehs issues are thematic each issue features a selection of peer reviewed research articles which offer novel perspectives on the main theme includes andrea löw and kim wünschman film and the reordering of city space in nazi germany the demolition of the munich main synagogue michal frankl cast out of civilized society refugees in the no man's land between slovakia and hungary in 1938 beate meyer foreign jews in nazi germany protected or persecuted preliminary results of a new study dominique schröder writing the camps shifting the limits of language toward a semantics of the concentration camps tal bruttmann stefan hördler and christoph kreutzmüller a paradoxical panorama aspects of space in lili jacob's album irina rebrova jewish accounts of soviet evacuation to the north caucasus malena chinski a new address for holocaust research michel borwicz and joseph wulf in paris 1947 1951 anna engelking our own traitor as the focal point of belarusian folk narrative on local perpetrators of the holocaust hannah wilson the memoryscape of sobibór death camp commemoration and materiality der band erscheint vollständig in englischer sprache the disintegration of the soviet bloc has given rise to a chauvinistic nationalism and its corollary of virulent antisemitism as well as denigration or outright denial of the holocaust the nazi genocide of the jews while unique in some ways was not the only genocide of the twentieth century this innovative book the product of a year long collaboration of scholars from many disciplines is the first curriculum to systematically tie the teaching of the holocaust to an analysis of the genocides in armenia bosnia and kosovo and rwanda the book consists of five parts introduction history of the holocaust representations of the holocaust in literature film and the arts other genocides and ethics the curriculum shaped with feedback from those who teach holocaust studies consists mainly of primary documents and their analysis each section includes a general introduction to a body of knowledge that reflects current research and detailed introductions to particular documents throughout the book there are provocative discussion questions and suggestions for further reading and other resources each section features links to other parts to encourage interdisciplinary reflection the final section on ethics addresses the difficult questions raised by genocide the holocaust and other genocides is designed as a model for flexible innovative teaching about this complex subject it is also a sophisticated interdisciplinary effort to create the conditions for discussing and understanding the genocides of the twentieth century
