a seventeen volume compilation of selected aef records gathered by army historians during the interwar years this collection in no way represents an exhaustive record of the army s months in france but it is certainly worthy of serious consideration and thoughtful review by students of military history and strategy and will serve as a useful jumping off point for any earnest scholarship on the war from foreword by william a stofft with the emperor and the army in the later roman empire ad 235 395 mark hebblewhite offers the first study solely dedicated to examining the nature of the relationship between the emperor and his army in the politically and militarily volatile later roman empire bringing together a wide range of available literary epigraphic and numismatic evidence he demonstrates that emperors of the period considered the army to be the key institution they had to mollify in order to retain power and consequently employed a range of strategies to keep the troops loyal to their cause key to these efforts were imperial attempts to project the emperor as a worthy general imperator and a generous provider of military pay and benefits also important were the honorific and symbolic gestures each emperor made to the army in order to convince them that they and the empire could only prosper under his rule the peninsular war and the napoleonic wars across europe are subjects of such enduring interest that they have prompted extensive research and writing yet other campaigns in what was a global war have been largely ignored such is the case for the war in india which persisted for much of the french revolutionary and napoleonic periods and peaked in the years 1798 1805 with the campaigns of arthur wellesley later the duke of wellington and general lake in the deccan and hindustan that is why this new study by martin howard is so timely and important while it fully acknowledges wellington s vital role it also addresses the nature of the warring armies the significance of the campaigns of lake in north india and leaves the reader with an understanding of the human experience of war in the region for this was a brutal conflict in which british armies clashed with the formidable forces of the sultan of mysore and the maratha princes there were dramatic pitched battles at assaye argaum delhi and laswari and epic sieges at seringapatam gawilghur and bhurtpore the british success was not universal
