continuation of the reference work that originated with Robert Dodsley written and published each year which records and analyzes the year's major events, developments, and trends in Great Britain and throughout the world. After 1815, the usual form became a number of chapters on Great Britain, paying particular attention to the proceedings of Parliament, followed by chapters covering other countries in turn, no longer limited to Europe. The expansion of the history came at the expense of the sketches, reviews, and other essays, so that the nineteenth-century publication ceased to have the miscellaneous character of its eighteenth-century forebear. Although poems continued to be included until 1862 and a small number of official papers and other important texts continue to be reproduced.

John Burbank died 1681 and his family immigrated from England to Rowley, Massachusetts, during or before 1640. Descendants and relatives lived in New England, New York, Illinois, Wisconsin, and elsewhere. Includes other immigrant Burbanks and some of their descendants.
